VIII. The Dean of Windsor, Lord Elworthy and Mr. Taylor at the Annual General Meeting.
MY DEAR FRIENDS,

You will notice that we have changed our Society's Constitution. To many people, including myself, Constitutions do not arouse much enthusiasm but of course they are very necessary to the good ordering of any Society. We are greatly indebted to those who have put in so much work in formulating our new Constitution. In particular, I would like to mention our gratitude to Judge Duveen and Mr. Hugh Owen.

Many of the Friends will not know the position, that in July the Trustees of St George’s House Development Fund recommended a study be made with regard to the organisation of the Colleges of St George, and the allocation of our resources. Mr. Hugh Parker of McKinsey & Co. who is a member of the Council of St George’s House, has most generously undertaken this work which should be completed in the autumn. I am confident that this experiment will prove of great benefit apart from its value in other directions. I am also confident that this study will provide your Committee with the kind of advice on which to assess the many projects which are at present under consideration and in which the help of the Friends will be invaluable. Inevitably there will be some projects which have been in mind for a considerable time. However, I am sure that the members will agree that even at the expense of delay and possibly increased costs, it is wise—especially in major projects—to get the best possible advice before proceeding.

The Accounts look as if we are in a strong position, but taking into consideration the work remaining to be done in the Chapel and the fact that costs are escalating all the time, I endorse all the Honorary Secretary says on this subject in his notes. In view of this, we are naturally still most anxious to increase our membership.

The Society has already benefited by the wisdom and zeal of our Honorary Secretary Mr. Tom Taylor in his first year of office, and he would be the first to say that he could not undertake this work without having Miss Rosemary Menzies at his right hand.

My wife and I have now met many of you, and we are most grateful for the extremely warm welcome we have received in Windsor, for this we are sincerely grateful.

Our Annual General Meeting in 1972 is reported more fully elsewhere—but from a personal point of view I would say what a welcome opportunity this provided for my wife and myself to meet so many of you. The fact that our numbers this year were at least 25% greater than in 1971 was in itself encouraging, but the atmosphere at the meeting and afterwards made the occasion all the more enjoyable.

1972 has had perhaps more than its share of sadness. At the time of writing, the Order of the Garter has lost three Knights, all of whom were Vice-Presidents of our Society. We mourn the loss of the Duke of Wellington, the Marquess of Salisbury, and the Viscount...
Chandos. We also salute the memory of H.M. King Frederick IX of Denmark, whose banner hung close to those of our own Royal Family.

The death of H.R.H. the Duke of Windsor in the early summer brought the Chapel into a focal point for the world to see on its TV screens and in its national press. The Chapel, cleared of its nave furnishings, was a magnificent setting for this solemn occasion, and all who assisted, many of whom are Friends, must have been moved by the dignity of the Lying-in-State and the funeral.

We mourn too, at the tragic death of H.R.H. Prince William of Gloucester, the elder son of our President, H.R.H. the Duke of Gloucester. The early September sunshine which lit up the Chapel on the day of the funeral fittingly marked the passing of this greatly loved and respected young man who combined a zest for life with a strong sense of duty.

In spite of the weather in early June, Garter Day in 1972 was held with its traditional pageantry. We welcome three new Vice-Presidents in the Earl of Drogheda, Lord Howick of Glendale, and Lord Rhodes of Saddleworth. It was delightful to see His Imperial Majesty the Emperor of Ethiopia, wearing his Garter robes and taking his seat. The Society will be proud to know that His Imperial Majesty, Hirohito, Emperor of Japan has become a Vice-President.

The Society has warm links with the Military Knights, and I would particularly like to pay tribute to their Governor Major General Sir Edmund Hakewill Smith who until the appointment of Lord Elworthy as Lay Chairman has for a number of years held the position of Vice-Chairman. We do indeed thank him for all he has done, and we are fortunate in still having him with us on the Committee. We welcome Lieut.-Colonel A. J. Spratley as a new Military Knight and hope that both he and Mrs. Spratley will enjoy their new home.

The new Constitution provides for a Lay Chairman, and it gave me particular pleasure to welcome Lord Elworthy to this office at the last A.G.M. This is a great step forward and we are honoured that the first holder of this office is the Governor and Constable of the Castle.

At the end of July, we said “farewell” to Admiral and Mrs. Davies. As the first Warden of St George’s House, he has been an outstanding success, and the progress St George’s House has made during his Wardenship reflects his talent. Both he and Mrs. Davies are stalwarts of the Society and it was significant that one of the last things he did in Windsor was to renew his seven year Covenant! They leave with our very warm wishes. We are fortunate to have Admiral and Mrs. Mason as their successors. By the time these notes are read they will be well established with us, and have already shown a keen interest in our affairs.

Elsewhere in the Report is a note on the change in our Editors. Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bond have given outstanding service to the Society in this capacity, and it came as something of a shock when we heard that with so many commitments they felt they must relinquish their duties. Happily their knowledge and services will not be lost to us in other directions. The Society is fortunate in obtaining the services of Miss Elizabeth Cuthbert, of the Royal Archives, as the new Editor.

We are still most anxious to increase our membership. The Chapter values the Friends as a large body of people who have an active interest in St George’s Chapel. We are also greatly indebted to them for the contribution they make towards maintaining the Chapel and improving its furnishings. I must stress, however, that our Chapel is not just an ancient and beautiful building—it is also a focal point for Christian worship in which many friends take part.

LAUNCELOT FLEMING, Bp.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Honorary Secretary’s Notes

Mr. T. W. Taylor writes:

Since writing my report for our last issue, I have been pleased to note that many members have taken the opportunity of calling at Curfew Tower to make themselves known to us. We realise that the majority of our members live considerable distances from Windsor—especially those from overseas. A visit to St George’s Chapel is therefore something of a pilgrimage, and we like to feel that you do have a point of contact within the Castle should you find this necessary. The Friends’ Office is open from Monday to Friday, inclusive, from 9 a.m. to 12 noon, and Curfew Tower itself is well worth a visit if you have time.

Members will notice that this issue contains the Minutes of the 1972 A.G.M. (p. 102). It has been decided to publish these in full—we realise that it is quite impossible for a great many members to attend the A.G.M. and this is the only method by which they can know what transpired. It is proposed to continue to do this in future issues.

The 1972 A.G.M. was most successful—some 370 members being present, with about 420 having tea later on. The business is reported elsewhere, but I must take this opportunity of saying a few words of thanks to quite a number of people. Mr. E. F. Grove, M.V.O. (one of the Committee) arranged a most excellent exhibition of brass rubbings which were well set out in the Dean’s Drawing Room. This was well attended and proved very popular. Lord Elworthy, the Society’s new Lay Chairman, very kindly allowed members to walk round the Moat Garden, and Evensong was well attended.

Due to a considerable rise in costs, it had been decided not to arrange a luncheon at a local hotel, but to offer our members a more substantial tea. This, I feel, was the right decision—every crumb was eaten! This formidable catering feat was only made Membership continues to grow though we are never really satisfied! My "one for one" plea, made last year and again at the A.G.M., did not fall on deaf ears, and I hope that each one of our readers will again try to recruit a new member. The Dean, I know, has an ultimate target of 10,000. We are nowhere near that figure at present, but it is by no means impossible. Again, I must stress the value to the Society of covenanted subscriptions. Like all charities, we shall suffer on this score by the provisions of the recent Finance Act, which reduces the amount of Income Tax reclaimable. We can only combat this by increasing the number of subscriptions paid under a Deed of Covenant. To those of you who pay your subscriptions this way we say "Thank you very much", and to those of you who, at present, do not, may we ask you to consider doing so!

It may be helpful in this issue to mention the allocation of tickets on Garter day. The Chapter Clerk does his best to send as many tickets as is possible to the Society. Unfortunately, we cannot create spaces or seats—these remain constant! As our membership grows, so does the number of applications. We do really try to allocate tickets on the basis of one per subscribing member, but we cannot guarantee that every applicant can be satisfied—we can only do our best. It does help us in our task if members making application do follow the instructions contained in the leaflet which accompanies this Report.

The production of the Society’s Christmas card remains a popular feature in our activities. A lot of thought is given to the annual choice by the Management Committee, and some cards are bound to be more popular than others. The financial outlay is substantial and any ultimate remainder represents a possible loss. Again, may we please ask members to support us in this endeavour—full details are contained in the leaflet enclosed.

Finally, I must place on record the debt we owe to the secretarial staff at Curfew Tower, Miss Menzies and Miss Howlett, and not forgetting our old friend Mrs. Watkins, who continues to engross all our Certificates and the Roll of Members in the Chapel. They give us a lot of their own time and effort in many activities, quite apart from their duties at Curfew Tower. As Honorary Secretary, I am the first to know of this and I am suitably grateful. I feel that I should express the thanks of all our members to these ladies.

Quincentenary 1975

Members will be interested to know that the Quincentenary of the Chapel will occur in 1975. The Chapter has decided that this important event shall be celebrated in the summer of that year. The Friends will wish to participate in these celebrations, and it is with particular pleasure that I have accepted the Chapter’s invitation to act as Honorary Secretary and Financial Adviser to the Committee which has been set up. Members will appreciate that it is not yet possible to publish any programme—an enormous amount of planning must take place first. I hope to be able to give you a lot more information in next year’s Report.

This advance information is given primarily to let our many overseas members know well in advance, so that any proposed visit to this country can be planned. I know, too, that we can count on the support of all of you to make this important event the success it really deserves.

Precentor’s Notes

Canon G. B. Bentley, the Precentor, contributes the following report:

Having taken the cleaning and repair of the northern exterior of the Chapel as far as the transept, Mr. Bool has now transferred his expert attentions to the south side, starting from the Galilee Porch. The effect of his work is already striking, and Mr. Pace is very pleased with the progress made. During the winter Mr. Bool will begin replacing the old heating gratings in the nave with stone paving.

The oak screens and sedilia are now in place in the nave and have proved their value in a number of ways. The choir stalls have been ordered but will not be here for some time yet. As for the nave lighting, experiment showed that aluminium pendants had the edge over bronze, but some problems still remain to be solved.

In response to my mention last year of the deterioration of the lampshades in the choir a generous donor has already come forward. I understand, but here again problems are causing delay. The lights on books and music needs improving and, since the fittings do not permit an increase of wattage, Mr. Pace is going to see if altering the shape of the shades can achieve what is wanted.

With the quincentenary of the Chapel looming up in 1975, we hope it may be possible to complete some projects by that date: refurbishing Edward IV chantry, making the treasury for the display of plate in the Bray chantry, and, perhaps, completing the refurnishing of the nave altar area with a standing cross behind the altar. Many people feel that we need a more prominent Christian symbol in the nave.

Our processional cross was used, on a specially made stand, for the lying-in-state of the late Duke of Windsor—an impressive and moving occasion. His funeral was on June 5.

Some other events in the Chapel may be noted:

Oct. 27—Funeral of Keith Furze, Military Knight.
Feb. 28—Evensong in memoriam King Frederick IX of Denmark and presentation of banner.
Mar. 9—Evensong in memoriam the late Viscount Chandos, K.G., and presentation of banner.

Apr. 20—Evensong in memoriam the late Marquess of Salisbury, K.G., and presentation of banner.

May 6—Michael Bowsher and Julian Hamilton-Peach admitted Choristers.

June 18—H.I.M. The Emperor of Ethiopia came to mattins with The Queen.

July 9—Service for Oxfordshire and Buckinghamshire Wing of the Air Training Corps.

Aug. 5—Visit of the Royal Welsh Male Choir.

Sept. 2—Funeral of Prince William of Gloucester.

12—Evensong: Marjorie Ritchie, widow of the late Canon Ritchie.

22—Beginning of the Windsor Festival.

24—Visit to the Chapel of the President of the German Federal Republic.

25—Visit of the Prime Ministers of Tonga and Samoa.

Mark Hodgson, Laura Natalia Fisher, and James Richard Antony Gibson were baptized, Christopher Hodgson and Jill Hurst were married, and there was a Confirmation on March 18.

Services were sung by the choirs of Hurstpierpoint College, the Brighton Consort, Selwyn College, Holy Trinity, Cookham, St Paul’s, Akron, Ohio, Leeds Parish Church, and Coventry Cathedral. A new group of Lay Clerks and others gave recitals under the name of the Collegium Musicum of Windsor. The organists of the College have given recitals.

Jason Smart resigned his organ scholarship in September 1972 and was succeeded by Francis Grier, formerly a Chorister and now at Eton.

Warden’s Notes on St George’s House

Vice-Admiral Mason writes:

With the arrival of the new Dean of Windsor at the beginning of the period covered by these notes, and in anticipation of the arrival of a new Warden at the end of the academic year as well as in the light of the recent technological and social changes, the Council of St George’s House considered a new Development Plan at their meeting in March 1972.

They concluded that St George’s House, as part of the College of St George, has a unique opportunity in its ability to provide a free and independent place of Christian worship, prayer and learning.
to which people of influence in our society and in the Church, are willing to come to live together for short periods and to learn from each other's experience. A new Purpose is being written to reflect these decisions and then will be considered by the Council in November.

In the meantime Consultations and Courses at St George's House continue to follow two main streams. The first is primarily for the laity, and involves the study of the complex relationships and often conflicting aims and values of society, and the need for change in the attitudes and motivation of both individuals and institutions—a change particularly in our relationships with each other and with our environment. For Christians these changes must depend on our relationship with God.

The second stream deals with Clergy Courses—here a place is provided where clergy of all denominations can meet together for short or long courses adapted to the needs of the various stages of their career, for learning and joint discussions in a spirit of prayer and understanding.

The courses include the study of the relationships between society, the environment and with God.

These two different types of consultations and courses are run with a single integrated staff, and in consequence the cross fertilisation of ideas from one to another is of enormous benefit to both. The staff is greatly assisted and their vision extended by many other speakers whose specialist knowledge and wide experience contribute greatly to the quality of learning.

Looking to the future it is hoped to develop new means of evaluating the effectiveness of consultations and courses, new methods of discovery, learning, and in particular of studying the ideas of the younger liberal generation.

For the present however and in simple terms, St George's House is filling quite a unique niche in the task of communicating the Christian faith to influential people of today in terms which are intelligible and situations which are relevant.

MINUTES OF THE ANNUAL GENERAL MEETING

The Annual General Meeting of the Society of the Friends of St George's was held at 2 p.m. on Saturday, 20th May, 1972, in the Chapel.

The Meeting opened with Prayer.

The Dean then welcomed all Friends remarking that it was encouraging to see such a goodly gathering on this, his first, occasion as Chairman.

The Minutes of the 1971 A.G.M. were accepted by the Meeting and signed by the Chairman.

There were no matters arising from the Minutes.
ANNUAL REPORT TO 30TH SEPTEMBER, 1972

Annual Report and Accounts, 1970/71

The Dean said that the Report had been circulated to all members and, as always, had been well received. A reduction in its size had resulted in a saving of about £100 in printing costs. The Editors, Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Bond, were again to be congratulated on another fine publication. Unfortunately, the Dean said, Mr. and Mrs. Bond had decided that they must relinquish their office as Joint Editors, and their resignations had been accepted with the greatest possible regret. Major-General Sir Edmund Hakewill Smith then announced that, with some reluctance, Mr. and Mrs. Bond had accepted a gift of three water colours to mark their services to the Society. The Dean told the Meeting that the Society was fortunate in obtaining the services of Miss Elizabeth Cuthbert, of the Royal Archives to succeed Mr. and Mrs. Bond as Editor, and her acceptance was received by the Meeting with very grateful approval. (An appreciation of the services of Mr. and Mrs. Bond appears on p. 118.)

Turning to the Accounts, the Dean said that these showed a satisfactory position. Fortunately, we gained more new members than we lost through death or other reasons. New subscription rates of £2.00 per annum (or £25.00 for Life Membership) were now in operation. It had been decided, however, that many of our old and valued members were on fixed incomes and that the new rates should only apply to them if they, themselves, wished to make the increase voluntarily. No questions being put to the Honorary Treasurer, the adoption of the accounts was put to the Meeting and carried.

Election to the Committee

Before proceeding with this business, the Dean made reference to the sad and untimely death of Alderman Francis Burton during his Mayoralty. A Committee member in his own right for the past three years, he attended also as Mayor. His lively and friendly interest in the Society's affairs was indeed characteristic and the Society would miss him. A few moment's silence was observed. Happily for the Society, however, the new Mayor (Alderman Richard Shaw) was a "St George's man" and the Dean welcomed him to the Committee during his Mayoralty.

The other retiring members, Mr. T. C. Martin and Mr. J. P. Manley, were warmly thanked by the Dean for all they had done for the Society, and this was endorsed by the Meeting.

The Management Committee was nominating Lady Elworthy and Alderman Richard Tozer to fill these vacancies for a three year period. These nominations, proposed and seconded, were put to the Meeting and carried.

Appointment of Honorary Officers

The re-appointment of the Honorary Officers of the Society viz.

Honorary Secretary Mr. T. W. Taylor, O.B.E.
Honorary Treasurer Mr. O. S. Peddar
Honorary Solicitor Mr. H. W. Owen, L.L.B.
Honorary Auditor Mr. J. D. Spofforth, F.C.A.

was put to the Meeting and agreed by a show of hands. The Dean thanked these gentlemen for their continued services.

Revised Constitution

Mr. Owen, the Honorary Solicitor, introduced the revised Constitution. The present Constitution, adopted in 1963 was in need of some amendment, and the Management Committee had appointed a sub-committee under the chairmanship of Judge Duveen, to consider the matter and revise as necessary. The draft in front of the Meeting was explained by Mr. Owen, who said that the broad principles of the existing Constitution had been maintained, but more explicit guide lines were now laid down for both the Management and Finance Committees. It had also been felt that the appointment of a Lay Co-Chairman was advisable.

Mr. P. G. Soulsby moved two amendments to the proposed new Constitution. These were discussed and agreed. The draft revised Constitution, with these amendments, was then put to the Meeting and accepted. The Dean then said that Lord Elworthy, on the invitation of the Management Committee, had agreed to accept the office of Lay Co-Chairman, and Lord Elworthy was warmly welcomed in that capacity. The sub-committee formed to review the Constitution was thanked for its work. (The revised Constitution is published on p. 119.)

Honorary Secretary's Notes
The Honorary Secretary reminded members that our drive for new members was still in full force. He again stressed how beneficial it would be if each existing member introduced one new member during the year. Many had already done so with the happiest of results. Then announced the arrangements for the rest of the day—Mr. E. F. Grove's very fine exhibition of brass rubbings on display in the Dean's Drawing Room, the Moat Garden being open for members by kind permission of Lord Elworthy, and Festival Evensong at 5 p.m. which by co-incidence, included the Ceremony of the Lilies and Roses. He warmly thanked all the ladies who had done such a wonderful job in the preparation for tea—served both in the marquee and in the Dean's Cloister. He also expressed the thanks of the Society to Mr. Read and Mr. Pratt and their staff for all the help they give, not only at the A.G.M., but throughout the year.

The Dean's Address
This was the first occasion on which it had been possible for the Dean to speak to the Friends, and he warmly welcomed the opportunity. He said that he already felt very much at home in Windsor and paid tribute to the very many people who had welcomed both Mrs. Fleming and himself in such a short time. The Dean then reminded the Meeting of the deaths of no fewer than five of the Garter Knights since our last A.G.M. and also the passing of Brigadier Furze. However, new arrivals in the Castle Community included Colonel and Mrs. Clark and Colonel and Mrs. Harvey, whom we are delighted to welcome.

The School and St George's House both have close links with the Friends. The Dean welcomed the new Headmaster, Mr. Russell, as an active Committee member, and wished Mr. and Mrs. Cleeve a long and happy retirement. He remarked how sorry we all were to be losing Admiral and Mrs. Davies, who were shortly retiring from St George's House. Both were very active Friends, and the Society will miss their presence and help. He announced that Admiral Mason would be succeeding Admiral Davies as Warden, and he felt that both he and Mrs. Mason would soon become equally active members.

The Dean then went on to say how much the Chapter valued the continuing efforts of the Friends. He remarked that the present balance sheet looked very healthy, but we should not forget that quite a lot of money was already earmarked for proposals some under way, but others not yet started. He instanced the completion of the Nave furniture, the lighting, the tapestries in the Rutland Chapel, and the display cases needed eventually in the Bray Chapel. He reminded us of our continued help in the grant we make towards the stonemason's salary. The Society still has a lot to do, and we must never be complacent. The Chapel has no endowment on the scale of Westminster Abbey, and the continued support of the Friends is a vital part in the Chapter's financial budget.

The Dean concluded by briefly mentioning the Quincentenary of the Chapel which will be celebrated in 1975, and in which he felt the Friends would wish to play a prominent part. More details would be given in the next Report.

Any other business
(i) Notice of Motion: The following Motion, proposed by Mr. P. G. Soulsby and seconded by Mr. D. Soulsby was put to the Meeting:

"That this Meeting of Friends and Descendants wish to place on record our most sincere appreciation of the long and loyal services rendered to the Society by Mrs. Watkins, and give her our best wishes for a long and happy retirement."

The Motion was accepted with acclamation.

(ii) Model of Chapel: The Secretary mentioned that a dimensional model of the Chapel made in the early Victorian period would be on view after the meeting, and was offered for sale at a minimum price of £80, to any member who may be interested.

The Meeting closed at 3.15 p.m.
THOMAS WILLEMENT'S STAINED GLASS WINDOWS IN THE CHOIR AISLES

By Clive Wainwright

The presentation of the material relating to the windows which Thomas Willement designed for the Choir aisles presents certain problems. Information from several sources needs to be combined together in an intelligible way. The most important source is a manuscript note book preserved in the Chapel Archives, partly in Willement's own hand and partly in another contemporary hand. Further notes were added in the 1920's by Mr. Stainton then Chapter Clerk. There is further material in the Chapel accounts, which give the dates of completion of each of the windows. Of course often, in situations such as this one, payments for work done were made long after the work had been carried out. I shall give the dates of completion from other sources and, in the case of the windows under discussion, it will be seen that the payments for work done were made very rapidly. The best source of information concerning Willement's work is a manuscript list in the British Museum Manuscripts Department, which is arranged in chronological order and contains material about both his stained glass work and his decorative painting. Willement started to compile it some time after 1850, but it is not known whether he did so from memory or from his accounts and diaries. Also at the British Museum are eight volumes of watercolours by Willement, which contain both designs by him and illustrations of actual mediaeval glass. Some of the mediaeval glass shown was restored by Willement; the rest was recorded by him as possible sources for his designs. There are various illustrations of glass at St George's some of it mediaeval and some later, but the illustrations that concern us at the moment are mainly contained in one volume.

In 1844 Willement published an account of his work at St George's and in the preface states that "Having been appointed by the Dean and Canons of Windsor to execute stained glass, and painted decorations that were thought necessary for the greater embellishment of the Collegiate Chapel of St George, which were continued subsequently to some considerable extent; and great advantage having been offered by the scaffolding for the close examination of the heraldic devices, so profusely scattered over the vaultings; it has occurred to me that some account of the restorations, and a detail of the heraldic ornaments, might be deemed sufficiently interesting for publication, even by many who, though not immediately connected with the establishment, are attentive observers of the great progress now making towards the return of our ecclesiastical edifices to their pristine magnificence". The main purpose of the book was to give details of the heraldry and the painted decoration in the building and of the restoration of this work. Very little is said about the glass and the aisle windows are not mentioned. The book is, however, of great interest to all who are interested in following carefully Willement's restoration. He was for instance responsible for the restoration of the splendid brass lectern still at St George's: "The brass lectern which has been long disused and had been kept in its imperfect state within the Chapter library has had its deficient parts supplied and the whole thoroughly cleaned and repolished, at the expense of the Hon. and Rev. Henry Cockayne Cust Canon. It now forms a conspicuous and satisfactory object in the centre of the choir". According to his MSS. list of works he started work at Windsor in 1841: "... seven windows in the south side of the clerestory ...". In 1842: "... many embellishments on the bosses of the vaulting ...". But, as I shall mention later, his acquaintance with St George's dated back much further than 1842. The last source to be mentioned is the list of his works published in 1844*. I shall not quote the Windsor note book in full, but only those parts of the Windsor accounts and Willement's list of works which differ from, or add to, the information contained in the note book; I shall not describe the windows fully, as a complete heraldic description would take up more space than I have here. I have not searched the Chapel archives exhaustively to find every bill relating to the work though they very probably all survive. I have, I hope, quoted enough of them to give some idea of the cost of the glass and its erection.

Before dealing in detail with the aisle windows, I will say a little about Willement and his career. Thomas Willement (1786-1871) was active as a designer from 1812 until 1865; his formal connection with St George's started as I have said in 1841, more than half way through his career. He was to work there steadily for the rest of his life. He was such an important and versatile designer and artist that I can do no more here than deal briefly with a few aspects of his work, with which I have dealt more fully elsewhere*. He was important not only as a stained glass designer and restorer but also as a decorative painter, a heraldic expert and a pioneer in the design and manufacture of encaustic tiles and was also the author of a number of important books on artistic, antiquarian and heraldic subjects. He worked during his long career with most of the important architects of his generation, including Salvin, Butterfield, Pugin, Blore, Carpenter, Cottingham and Smirke. His stained glass work has remained well known, but his work as a designer of interior painted decoration has been largely forgotten. Another aspect of his work that deserves more attention is his sensitive restorations of ancient glass and painted decoration. He, of course, did a great deal of work of this nature in St George's, but also worked at the Temple Church, York Minster and at Wells Cathedral.

A significant proportion of his glass and decorative work was heraldic, especially that executed for country houses and other secular buildings. He had been appointed "Heraldic Artist" to King George IV and published his first book on heraldry in 1821*. In this book he mentions in several places the painted coats of arms on the ceilings at St George's and must, apparently, have visited the building before 1821. It would seem, therefore, that he had known the building for over twenty years when he started work there. His heraldic work at St George's was praised by G. W. Eve in 1897, "Among the first to return to the study of really decorative heraldry and to apply it, was Thomas Willement, F.S.A., . . . among the more important of his productions, of which he did a large number during the first half of this century are the windows of St George's Chapel Windsor where the various Royal Shields and badges are treated in a manner not unworthy of that magnificent fane. His great regard for heraldry as well as his untiring industry were evident when, availing himself of the scaffolding used in the restoration of the chapel, he made a catalogue of the arms and badges with which it is so profusely decorated. He published this very useful work in 1844". He used various of the coats of arms as the source of some of those that he carried out in the aisle windows.

The stained glass windows at St George's were dealt with by J. A. Knowles in an article but curiously he made no mention whatever of Willement's work there. He dealt in some detail with the mediaeval glass and also that designed by Benjamin West but failed to recognise the importance of the Willement windows. The only windows that I deal with in this article are those in the two choir aisles; Willement's work elsewhere in the chapel is too extensive to be dealt with here. But I hope that in dealing fully with these windows I will perhaps do something to restore Willement's reputation to its former high position. Until recently heraldic glass of the type under consideration has been out of favour and, in consequence, has been little studied. Willement designed large quantities of heraldic glass and his reputation has of course suffered for this reason, whereas William Morris and his associates have benefited in reputation as glass designers due to the great interest in figurative glass which made up almost their total output. The windows under consideration contain both heraldic and figurative elements. Willement spared no pains to find appropriate sources both for the armorials and the royal portraits. In some cases I have given his sources; they could without doubt all be traced to a specific source. It is time that this heraldic and iconographical record of the British Monarchy was once again accorded the importance that it undoubtedly had when it was completed in the 1850's.

The rest of this article will consist of material from the Chapel archives and elsewhere placed side by side with certain indications by me of sources and other relevant works by Willement. I shall quote from the several sources already mentioned and, instead of using the sequential note numbering system, will use the number given when the source was first quoted. If this unusual method was not used the notes would number over one hundred.

Though not strictly in the choir aisles the glass in the two panels in the ceiling vaulting in the passage behind the altar should, I feel, be included. "Two horizontal lights behind the communion table with arms crown and initials . . ." 13 These unusual ceiling panels relate to a similarly used panel at Alton Towers in Staffordshire. This was designed by A. W. N. Pugin and executed by Willement while they were both working for the Earl of Shrewbury at Alton Towers and Alton Priory. "1834 Alton Towers Co. Stafford. A vaulting of rich stained glass for the ceiling of the corridor, horizontal window of badges and ornaments for the ceiling of the ante room . . ." 13

Without the help of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Bond this article could not have been written. Mrs. Bond did a great deal of work on my behalf in the Chapel Archives and brought my attention to the notebook which I have quoted in full above.

AN APPRECIATION

The Annual Report of the Society has become something of an institution in its affairs—a publication which has been popular with the predominantly large number of our members whose main concern is the preservation, maintenance and upkeep of the Chapel, and also with the many scholars who support us. To strike a balance as between erudition and popular reading is no easy task, but Maurice and Shelagh Bond have achieved this in abundant measure. As Honorary Secretary, I have only to put a copy of the Report in the hands of a “waverer” and he signs a form of application!

Shelagh became Assistant Editor 17 years ago, and she was joined by Maurice in 1960, to form the editorial team which existed until May 1972. Pressure of official business has made them relinquish this position, and the Society has had to accept their resignations with regret.

In spite of their protests, the Committee decided that the Society should mark their unique services in some way, and it gave us all a lot of pleasure when Major-General Sir Edmund Hakewill Smith told the A.G.M. that Shelagh and Maurice had chosen three water colours.

Near Ischel by David Cox junior,
Figures Crossing a Bridge by William Payne,
A View of the Thames by Alfred William Rich, as mementoes of their long association with us in the editorial chair.

We wish these distinguished scholars both health and happiness, we are grateful for their wonderful services, and we rejoice that they will remain in our midst and ever ready with help and advice.
